Welcome from the Mayor of Noblesville

I hope you find the Town Planner Community Calendar a valuable and accessible resource when planning your time in Noblesville, whether visiting or residing in our city. There is something for everyone!

Noblesville has fantastic amenities, including six public parks, over 100 miles of trails, Hamilton Town Center outdoor mall, our authentic historic downtown square, and the outdoor music venue Ruoff Music Center. We are also home to the Indiana Peony Festival, which takes place every May at Seminary Park and attracts thousands of visitors to our community to celebrate the state flower!

Exciting things are happening in our city! We're making significant investments in trails, parks, road infrastructure, culture, and housing. The trail connectivity throughout our city and neighbors in Hamilton County is a testament to our commitment to outdoor recreation and community engagement.

As a lifelong resident of Noblesville, I am deeply committed to shaping its future. We can make a real difference through our collective efforts and engaged leadership. That's why my administration prioritizes four major pillars – Workforce and Economic Development; Downtown, Culture and Recreation; Public Health and Safety; and Roads and Infrastructure. We have many projects that have progressed because of collaboration and planning.

In Central Indiana, we love sports! In our master-planned district, Innovation Mile, located on the city's east side, the Noblesville Event Center is set to open this year. It will be the new home to the Pacers G-League franchise and host community events, conferences, entertainment, and other sporting events.

The Reimagine Pleasant Street project is a multi-year initiative aimed at improving east-west connectivity and accessibility for the community. It is a partnership between the City of Noblesville and Hamilton County and aims to provide residents, local businesses, and stakeholders with numerous improvements. These improvements will enhance mobility and public safety while also honoring the urban character and historic features of the project area. Additionally, there are beautiful murals by local artists at the trail intersection of the River Walk and Midland Trace Trails. The Reimagine Pleasant Street project is expected to be completed by the end of this year.

Be on the lookout for exciting progress in our city. Noblesville is a unique and growing community with national recognition as a great place to live, work, play, and retire.

Thank you for spending time in Noblesville and supporting our local businesses!

Sincerely, Chris Jensen, Mayor

Welcome to 2025!

Nestled in the heart of Hamilton County, Noblesville holds a unique role as the county seat. Our city is a thriving community of dedicated, passionate individuals, families, organizations, and businesses working together to celebrate and enhance Noblesville as the perfect place to live, learn, grow, work, visit, and play.

Noblesville's small-town charm continues to be one of our greatest assets. Great care is given to our community planning and development to maintain and enhance this feel while we continue to grow. And we are growing, welcoming new residents and new businesses each week. This is a testament to our quality of place.

We are excited to welcome new residents to every corner of Noblesville. On the west side our new Promenade Trails' 55+ luxury apartments and cottages are open, on the east side, Hyde Park Towns & Flats along with Finch Creek by Del Webb are underway, and in our historic downtown East Bank Apartments and Federal Hill Apartments are providing desirable new downtown residential living for empty nesters and young professionals. All these new residential options significantly expand the choices and style of living while creating new communities of neighbors.

Our growth is not limited to residential. New small businesses continue to launch, and larger national and international businesses expand in Noblesville, due to our favorable business climate, investment in infrastructure, and our top-notch schools. This is highlighted by Bastian Solutions (a Toyota Automated Logistics company) recent groundbreaking on a 162 acres corporate headquarters campus. And this year, just a mile or so away from this new campus, we will see the opening of Noblesville's arena hosting the Pacers Sports & Entertainment's G League basketball team. The team will add to our family friendly entertainment options and the facility will add to our large gathering event venue options supporting the burgeoning area.

You have in your hands a great tool to learn about your community and explore local businesses. We encourage you to utilize this Town Planner Calendar to stay connected with our community. Like the Town Planner Calendar, the Chamber can be an important connection resource to quality, trusted local merchants and services. Please reach out to us.

Noblesville, a great place to call home!
