Kristyn Hewitt

I have enjoyed all seasons of lake life for the past 22 years on Phelps Bay in Mound. Some of my favorite times are early mornings sitting on the dock with my camera by my side and photographing the wildlife. It is so peaceful! I am passionate about photography and enjoy all types. My husband wishes I would have found a little less expensive hobby.

HOPKINS FUN FACTS!

- Founding and Early Settlement: Hopkins was originally settled in the 1850s as part of a larger area known as "West Minneapolis." Early settlers were attracted to the rich farmland, and the area began to develop around agriculture.
- Name Origin: The town was named after Harley H. Hopkins, an early settler who ran a local post office and store. The town's name was changed from West Minneapolis to Hopkins in 1928 to avoid confusion with the nearby city of Minneapolis.
- Railroad Influence: The Great Northern Railway played a crucial role in Hopkins' early development. The railroad helped transport goods, especially agricultural products, to and from the town, boosting local commerce and leading to Hopkins' growth as a small urban center.
- The Raspberry Capital: From the early 1900s through the 1940s, Hopkins was known as the "Raspberry Capital of the World" due to its abundant raspberry farms. The community hosted an annual Raspberry Festival starting in 1934, which continues today as the state's oldest continuously running festival.
- Historic Mainstreet: Hopkins has maintained its historic downtown area, known as "Mainstreet," which features preserved buildings from the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Mainstreet has been revitalized over the years and is now home to shops, restaurants, and cultural landmarks, including the Hopkins Center for the Arts.
- First Suburban Library in Minnesota: Hopkins opened one of the first suburban libraries in Minnesota in 1928, showing the community's early commitment to education and literacy. This library eventually became part of the Hennepin County Library system.
- African American Historical Significance: Hopkins is one of the Minnesota suburbs that has historical African American communities dating back to the early 20th century. Some African American families who worked in the agricultural and railroad industries made Hopkins home and helped contribute to the town's diverse heritage.

MINNETONKA FUN FACTS!

- Name Origin: The name "Minnetonka" comes from the Dakota Sioux word Mní íá Thánka, meaning "great water," referring to nearby Lake Minnetonka. This lake has been central to the area's identity for centuries.
- Indigenous Roots: Long before European settlers arrived, the Dakota and Ojibwe people lived around the Minnetonka area, relying on Lake Minnetonka and the surrounding lands for hunting, fishing, and gathering.
- First Flour Mill in Minnesota: Minnetonka is home to the site of Minnesota's first large flour mill, built in 1852 along Minnehaha Creek by Simon Stevens. This marked the beginning of industrial development in the area and set the stage for Minnetonka's role in early Minnesota industry.
- A Tourist Boom in the 1880s: With the expansion of the Great Northern Railway in the 1880s, Lake Minnetonka became a popular vacation destination. Resorts, hotels, and grand steamboats such as the famous "Belle of Minnetonka" brought tourists from Minneapolis and beyond, making the area one of Minnesota's early vacation hotspots.
- The End of the Resort Era: By the early 1900s, the tourism boom around Lake Minnetonka began to wane as vacation trends shifted and automobile travel opened up new destinations. Many of the grand hotels and resorts were dismantled or repurposed, and Minnetonka transitioned into a residential community.
- Historic Burwell House: Built in 1883, the Charles H. Burwell House is one of Minnetonka's most iconic historic sites. Charles Burwell was the secretary and manager of the Minnetonka Mills Company, and his house is now a museum that offers a glimpse into the Victorian-era lifestyle and the area's milling history.
- The Minnetonka Ice Palace: During the winter of 1887–1888, Minnetonka built an elaborate ice palace on the shores of Lake Minnetonka as part of the St. Paul Winter Carnival. This impressive structure attracted thousands of visitors and showcased the lake as a winter attraction.
- The Legacy of Gray's Bay Dam: Built in the early 1970s at Gray's Bay, this dam controls the water levels of Lake Minnetonka and Minnehaha Creek, helping manage seasonal flooding while protecting the lake's recreational use.
