

“As a part of the Alpharetta community for over 10 years, many advertising companies approach us. Traditionally we have focused our advertising in the health care arena. When Scott approached us about the Town Planner we were very hesitant to spend our marketing dollars on something “new and untested”.

We are glad we took the leap!!

I was thrilled to have immediate response from the community. Immediately, we received inquiries about seniors needing a residence as well as many general questions about Assisted Living.

What a great avenue for the Alpharetta community to work with Assisted Living.

Lastly, I want to say that the Town Planner is a non-traditional way for business to generate buzz in their local communities. We look forward to advertising again with the Town Planner.”
